DEAR SIR: My views of the subject suggested in your message are these: So long as any state remains in the Union, with professions of stachment to it, one cannot discriminte between that State and our own. In this conless we must be clearly in the right in every act, and think it better that we should risk something han that we stand in the slightest degree thargeable with any thing tending to create a appare with any State which has not already teclared itself out of the Union.

To the People of Kentucky.

The General Assembly of our State, at o he held on the first Saturday in May or twelve delegates to a Border Slavstates Convention, to be held at Frankfort The object of the Convention was no distinctly act forth in the act dated Apri 3d, 1861; but it was generally understood that the purpose was for the Border Slave States which had not seceded to propos ome terms upon which the Union could e restored.

Two sets of candidates were propose you for delegates to that Convention the one set, with Mr. Crittenden at thei ead, representing the opinions of those who styled themselves the Union Dentec racy; the other set, with General Win. O Butler at their head, representing the ppinlons of those in favor of States Rights. The difference between these two sets of candidates, as set forth in the resolutions of those who nominated them, was clear and distinct.

The Union Democracy declared, tha whilst they thought the Crittenden Resolutions would be a basis of settlenent acceptable to the people of Kenucky, they were yet willing to accept as a final adjustment of the matters ln courre ersy any plan of adjustment the Con ention might agree to, provided It was ecepted by the people of the North and put into the Constitution, the secoded States not being consulted in the matter-thus placing it in the power of the Commissioners, should they be elected, to pledge the State, blindfold, to propositions which had ot yet been made, and the stipulations of which the people could have no informa ion about. On the other hand, those in favor of State Rights declared that they would take nothing less than the Crittenden resolutions with the Powell amendnent as a basis of adjustment; they opsosed the Franklin resolution of the Peace Conference; and they opposed all idea of a middle confederacy. They did not proose that anything the Convention might lo, should at all pledge or bind Kentucky, nless it met the concurrence both of the Northern States and the seceded States; egarding the Convention in the position mediation between the two sections aless its propositions were accepted by oth, the Border States were not to be bound to cither, but in that event, they reomnended to the Legislature to call : onvention to determine upon the position Kentucky should thereafter occupy.

Upon the plain issues involved in these wo sets of resolutions so widely different with the position I had taken in the Peace Conference at Washington, altogether oposed to that of four of the eandidates the so called Union Democracy, I had the onor to be nominated by those in favor of State Rights as a candidate for the place of delegate to the Border Slave State Con cention. I accepted the nomination and have since been making as active a can-pposed to us, now take the position that t is necessary to arm the State. We begged and implored them long ago to do so But for what do they now propose to arm the State? To maintain as they say, an armed neutrality. What is neutrality? It a position assumed by one foreign State as between other foreign States. Is Kentucky foreign both to the North and to the outh? With the bayonet of Northern hordes at the breast of our brothers; with the blood of our friends flowing; with owns burned and cities threatened, I can but I know no recognized Southern Conl'ederacy against which we can occupy a esition of neutrality. The idea is absurd a law; the argument is addressed to our fears and not to our patriotism. Because t is possible Kentucky may furnish once again a hattle field, we are to assume a position of positive inaction. Such idea and such argument does not suit me, nor do I

We cannot remain idle spectators I am fully aware of all the difficulties and of all the perils of the position which I have taken and which I advise you, people of Kentucky, as in my judgment, it is your duty now to take-that is to take the earliest steps possible to place your State ith your Southern brethren; but I have a all and perfect reliance in that scripture which says, "the race is not to the swift nor the battle to the strong." An Exciting Day at Norfolk—State of the Cumberland of th Visit of a Committee from Lonisville to this City—Reception at the City Hall-Speeches by Judge Storer, Judge Bullock, and Others—Letter from Governor Dennison.

Administration in its efforts to crush rebellion, that doubts have very generally beeler, extained of the loyalty of Kentucky, an shipments of provisions to Loulsville have been rather summarily stopped, much to the discomflure of merchants in that city engaged in the Southern trade. It is hardly uccessory to add that those who stopped the shipment of provisions were not actuated by any desire to starve Kentucky, a grain and meat are the principle staple of that State; the fact that they were not needed for consumption at home, rendered NORFOLK, April 21, 1861, 1 P. M. that State; the fact that they were not needed for consumption at home, rendered it certain that they were to be shipped Southward, and it was the general impression that it mattered little whether the articles were sent directly to the rebel army, or transhipped to Louisville, and therefore a general embargo was laid upon all exports usually denominated contraband—except our bad rifle whisky.

For several days past telegraphic dispatches, have been received here, complaining that not only have not provisions been forwarded to Louisville, but that the merchants there were unable to get any explanation; and consequently a committee, consisting of the Mayor, several members of Conneils, a few merchants, and in ges, colonels, and majors innumerable, came here to obtain the necessary information. eneral would incur the penalty of order-

A reception, on the part of the Mayor and several merchants and others, of this city, was given the strangers at the Council Chamber, in which both purries ventilated their brotherly affection—in some instances with tears—the Kentuckians, however, always are the council of the coun stances with tears—the Kentuckians, how-ever, always making a reservation that they loved their "South rn sisters" still better, which our Ohio men heard with due hamility and without protest. As a prologue to the melo-drama, the Mayor introduced the committee, telling those who were assembled—there having been no notice, and only half a dozen were been no notice, and only halfa dozen were there—that these representatives of the State of Kentneky had come to confer with the authorities of Clucinnati as to the best means of protecting the interests of the States hordering on the river, and to establish a mutual good understanding among the people of the border.

Rains King, Esq., then rose and said that this was an impromptn welcome to our Kentneky brethren, who were lovers of the Union, like ourselves, and who had come to know why corn had been withheld from Canaan. He then read the following letter from Gov. Dennison on the subject of the late seizures: It seems unaccommable that a place so aportant as this, should have been, furnes like these, left so atterly defense-y safe!

Speaking of the Petersburg companies, I may mention here that their arrival last night was halled with tumultuous delight. Their march up the street was trimmphal in its teatures. Shouts and cheers rent the air, banners and handkerchiefs waved from every baleony, women welcomed declared itself out of the Union.

To seize arms going to a State which has not actually receded, would give a pretext for the assertion that we had inaugarated hostil conduct, and might be used to create a popular feeling in favor of secession, where it otherwise would not exist, and end in involving us in a border warfare, which all good citizens must depocate. Until there is such circumstantial evidence as to create a moral certainty of an immediate intention to use arms against us, ishould not be willing to order their secure; much less will I be willing to Interfere with the transportation of provisions.

Having the atmost confidence that your prudence and discretion will avoid every just cause of complaint on the part of our Kentucky neighbors. I remain. Reverting now to the enemy. All day long it was evident from proceedings in the harbor that some nunsual movement was about to be made, but its precise nature no one could determine. Everything, however, indicated a purpose on the part of the enemy to abandon the Navy Yard, and destroy all the property that could not be removed. With the ebb tide, quantities of broken musket stocks floated past the city, and workmen from the yard reported that all the cannon had been spiked, and a general destruction of property was in Judge Storer was then called up, and made a speech of ronsiderable length.—
He enlogized Kentucky, and expressed a wish that Ohio might stand by her, and that she might stand by Ohio to preserve the Union.
He attacked Governor Magofilu, and told the peeple that the Unionists of Kentucky could not rely on hun, and relterated his belief that he was in league with traitors. The South had been constantly traitories.

ust after dark to the Lonisville, seized the Speaker by the hand, and embraced him, when the two wept 10-gether, the effect bring electric upon all gether, the effect being electric upon all white saw them.

Judge Bullock then made a speech in behalf of the Kentuckians, saying that he had come to strengthen the bond of brotherhood between the Border States, which had always marched torward shoulder to shoulder. The venerable gentleman who had preceded him had referred to the loubtful loyalty of Kentucky.

Judge Storer—"I do not doubt Kentucky's hyaity, I only spoke of the course love the course when the same and the course when the same and the course when the same and the same

Judge Storer—"I do not doubt Kenucky's loyaity, I only spoke of the course of certain citizens."

Judge Bullock—"Is the sun dimmed, Lat gnats do fly? Is the State disloyal, pecause some of its people are?" He conended that we must judge of a State by he acts of the majority, and not by excepious whether they came from each vice of President Mahone, that running of the trains, and he deserves credit for pacticing so successfully so shrewd a trick.

About midnight the alarm was given that the Navy Yard was on fire, and sure enough there it was, a sickly blaze that scemed neither to diminish or increase for several hours. This, however, was only the beginning. The tide was not yet favor able for the escape of the vessels, and-would not be at those until day-break.—

Meanwhile men were kept busy ail night the acts of the majority, and not by exceptions, whether they come from men in or out of power. The Union men of his state were fighting negaliant battle for the Union at home, and moderation on the part of Ohio would make them 20,000 stronger at the May election. He did not wish to disparage Ohio, Indiana, or Illinois, but he wanted it understood that the people of Kenneky occumed a delicate residence of the make the people of Kenneky occurred a delicate residence. of Kentucky occupied a delicate posi-on. She loves the Southern States, and tion. She loves the Southern States, and will not tight against them, but will tender to the North and South the olive branch of peace. He complimented Gov. Dennison for the sentiments intered in the letter just read, and indulged in a culogy on the American flag, which he had just before refused to upkeld in the seceded States, after which he sat down.

Hon. Judge Pirtle, of Louisville, then made some brief remarks to the meeting. In which he scouted at the idea that there were any in Kentucky so disloyal as to desire to burn and destroy the towns and cities of Ohio. If there were any such brigands in Kentucky they must be hidden away lu cayes; they certainly did not live auds in Kentucky they must be hidd naway lu caves; they certainly did not live on top of the land. He felt that there was but one feeling of friendship, fldelity and faith on both sides of the river, and that all were citizens of the United States.

Colonel Nat. Wolfe, of Louisville, on heing called upon declined making a speech, as the cloquent gentlemen who had preceded him, both from Ohio and Kentucky, had expressed his views. seded him, both from Ohio and Kentucky, and expressed his views.

Colonel Rousseau, of Louisville, said if it is should express himself here as he had been in the habit of doing in his own until the tate in favor of the Union, it might create the impression that he was trying to arry layor. He could never recognize muler any circumstances the secssion more unent, and although a native of Keutucky, and loving, as he did, her soil and her intitutions, if she should ever consent to go with the rattlesnake flar, he would also with the rattlesnake flar, he would also ent to accomplish.

Residend, That the meeting has listened with learly gratification to lies sentiments and line of conduct recommended in the letter of the fovernor of Ohio to the Mayor of Chichmath, not read; and that in our judgment, honorand addity to the Union and the constitution, that coshonid conduct onselves strictly in consenting with h.

The resolution was annulationally of the consenting of the consenting that the consenting the consenting that the consenting that the consenting the consenting that The resolution was muanimously adopted, and after three cheers for the Union and nine for Keutneky, the meeting advanced. Journed.

Yesterday was an exciting day here. At an early hour Gen. Taliaferro was waited on by an officer from the frigate Camberland, and informed that the United States forces here did not mean to inaugurate hostilities against the citizens of Virginia, but desired only to be let alone. If they were attacked, or their movements interfered with, force would be met by force, and the cities of Norfolk and Portsmonth would be shelled. This notice, it was added, was given that opportunity might be allowed for the removal of the women and children, if it was contemplated to commence hostilities. The caution was not needed, however, for the simple reason that being almost wholly suprovided with page 1975. nat being almost wholly unprovided with ten and impritions of war, there was not to least likelihood that the Commanding

Of artillery, the arms most needed, our ride cannou (six ponuders) and two cighteen pounders, comprised the whole amount that oould be rendered available. So urgent was the necessity for artillery felt to be that old cannon that have done duty at street corners as leaning posts for half a century or more, have been dug up all over the city, but being found worthless, as any one might have known, have, of course, been thrown aside again.

All these acts and others indicated a purpose to referent.

Just after dark to the surprise of all, and the dismay of many, the P wince steamed up the harbor and took position at the Navy Yard, where she was received with such shouts of rejoicing as could be distinctly heard in this city. Her arrival put a new line on matters. It was rumored that she brought large reinforcements, and that the Yard would now be defeuded to the last extremity; but the reverse of this was her mission. She was sent to desirely not to protect. She brought with her 200 workmen from the Washington Navy Yard, and large quantities of turpentine to be used in fring from the Washington Navy Yard, and large quantities of turpentine to be used in firing quantities of turpentine to be used in firing the luildings. There is no doubt that it was the intention of the Government to make the work of destruction complete, but a panic scized on those emphyed to carry the design into effect, and much of the most valuable property was saved. Shorly after the arrival of the Pawnee, the military companies from Petersburg arrived, and as trains were kept running until a late hour in the night, an impression prevailed among the enemy that reinforcements by the thousand were being thrown into the city, and that an immediate attack might he expected. After that, the only thought was how to escape. It was a cunning device of President Mahone, that running of the trains, and he deserves credit for paac-

At length 4 o'clock came, and with it At length 4 o'clock came, and with it flood tide. A rocket shot up from the Pawnee, and then almost in an instant the whole front of the Navy Yard seemed one vast sheet of flame. The next minute streaks of Idane flashed along the rigging of the Pennsylvania and the other doomed ships, and soon they were complely wrapped in the devouring element. The herbor was now one blaze of light. The remotest objects were distinctly visible. The surglug flames leaped and roared with raad violence, making their hoarse wrath heard at the distance of several miles. The people of Hampton, and even those who lived beyond, saw the red light, and thought all of Norfolk was a fire. It was certainly a grand, though terrible sight to witness, such a one as it is not given to man more than once in a life-time to behold. In the midst of the brillimee of the seene, the Pawnee, with the Cumberlandiu tow, stole like a guilty thing through the harbor, fleeing from the destruction she had been sent to accomplish.

But the work of vandalism was only half performed. The most valuable portions of the yard are still intouched, and are now the property of the State of Virginia. The only buildings destroyed are two ship houses, the officers' quarters, a sail loft filled with cordage, the marine barrackst and some few sheds. All the valuable workshops, with their machinery, the boathouses, spar houses, timber houses, with their costly contents, are all now in our possession.

But, as it would seem, by the interposition of Providence, this magnificent work was spared. The fire after burning a few feet, went out, and did not ignite the powder. The dry dock is ours in perfect condition. The machinery in the shops is also perfect; the cutting of a few belts being the extent of the damage inflicted on it. He succeeded, but was shot at while scaling the walls. This circumstance creating a lack of confidence in their own men, and tearing an attack from without, they discontinued the properations for firing the buildings but marched the men aboard the ships and waited for the tide. Thus was property to the value of several millions saved. Officers Rodgers and Wright were separated from their commands when the covaligation was started and rushing to the laming found communication with vessels cut off. They made all haste to the main entrance way which, when they reached, they found enveloped in flames, through which they had to make their way at the risk of their lives. Going down to the river they seized a boat and started in pursuit of the retreating ships, but passing the ferry landing at Portsmouth, they were headed of by a boat trom shore which fired on them, and they then made for Ferry Point where they were captured. A gentleman who left the Annapolis Junction this (Wednesday) no raing, says the General Government succeeded in opening telegraphic and Railron and communication between Washington and Annapolis last evening.

Several trains dilled with troops passed the Junction last night and early this morning on their way to Washington.

The State companies which lind becaustationed at the Junction, and on the line of the railway had either left for their homes, to recrnit after several days exausting service, or bad moved to the mannay roads, to oppose the passage of the Northern troops.

The train which was to leave Washington yesterday afternoon was taken possession of by the troops of the General Government, and came on to Annapolis with 190 or more soldiers.

The Annapolis Railroad was in possession of the Northern troops wither were arriving at Annapolis, and they were being transported by rail to Washington without opposition, as hir as has been heard from.

Last winter, comething more than a year ago, the same thing was done on a larger scale, and of course more perfectly and satisfactorily done, by the members of the Legislatures of the States of Ohio, Kensucky, and Tonnessee.

The gentlemen who saved the Union then were all very sincere and very honest, and they acted after due deliberation and charged the expenses of the ceremony to the dear people; leat we venture to say that no one of those who celebrated the saving of the Union in Nick Longworth's wine cellars and participated in the events of the excursion to Columbus will now acknowledge the fact,

But now, when the end of all this Union saving is apparent in the destruction of the Confederacy, which now lies gashed and bleeding, offered in sacrifice by the Black Republicans on the altar of anti-slavery, it is sickening to contemplate the repetltion of these idle, childish, futile scenes, by those who should know better, and from whose knowledge and experience we should learn lessons of wisdom and practical application.

harmless in its nature, removes all impurities. I can safe y say that the vicorous old age i now enjoy has been caused mainly by the thingly use of Branas been caused mainly by the timely use of Braneth's Pills. I have bad in these last twenty eight gears several fits of slekness, and c asionally some infirmity of age would press upon me. At these times I have always found your pills a sure remedy, giving me not only health but strength. I e neider them, not only invaluable as a purgetive e-instance received to the form never during these last but also as a totale. I have never during these last twenty-eight years used any other medicine what-ever, being convinced, by experience, that none was as good. Brandrath's Pills have also been free-ly used by my neighbors in every kind of sickness, nd have been never known to full when promptly administered. Yours truty, NATUANIEL HYATT,

THE RIVER Is falling very fast, with only nine feet water in the canal by the mark, last evening at dark. On the falls there were six feet steamboat water. During the previous twenty-four hours the river at the head of the falls had fallen fully thrue feet, and some eight feet at Portland. That is a compalishing with a fall reducing the river. remarkably rapid fall, reducing the river once more into very narrow limits, and bringing both Portland and the canal into homediate requisition. The weather has been warm and close, threatening rain last evening.

At Cincinnati, at noon yesterilay, the river had fallon some four feet, and at Pittsburg it was falling, with 7 feet water in the channel, and warm weather. Trade and commerce at the above ports is almost whoily enspended, and if the present ad ministration of affairs continues much longer, Louisville will have as little to do and as many liters and starving tuen to cend to the wars as the North.

The Atlantic arrived from New Orleans early yesterday morning, less than five early yesterday morning, less than five and a half days out, and from her officers we learn that the Lower Mississippi was

THE NEWS. We hear that there will be concentrated today in Richmond, Virginia, twenty-five thousand Southern troops. If this be true, and we have no reason to doubt it, the Southern Chieftaln under stands the value of time. But a few days more, and should not a peace policy prevail-and it is hoping against hope-then there will be inaugurated a tight, the loodiest in the annals of the world.

There is trouble on the frontlers. rownsville. Texas, has been burnt by the dexican bandit Cartinas, who has turned up gain, and eighteen Americans were slain. It also stated that the Federal troops have onimenced the fight about Indianola. We ould this, but if true, the Texans will make short work of them.

The return of the visitors from this city o Cincinnati has been announced, and the most hrotherly feeling on the part of the Ohioans towards Kentucky is proclaim as the result !

Oh! well-s day! We wish it were true. The Governor Ohio wrote a letter to the Mayor, and its reading was applauded by our admiring fellow-townsmen; and warm embraces were interchanged, and happy tears inter nilugled. All weut merry as a marriage bell. One of our friends was so in love with Ohio that he declared he wouldn't stay in Kentucky If she didn't stay in the Ur ion; and we are surprised that some Cincit atian didn't reciprocate by declaring that if Onio doesn't go with the South that he would come to this State.

The result of it all is, however, tha oon as the visitors left, and before they eached home, all the friendly sentiment and promises of the Governor, the Mayor and others in authority, are repudiated b he people, who refuse to entertain then or fulfill the other.

The Press, of yesterday, says: The Prees, of yesterday, says:

Commerce with Louisville,—It is a clear case that shipments of provisions, animunition, and arms might as well be made direct to New Orleaus, Mobile, or Pensacola as to Louisville. There are now in Louisville agents of the Cutton State usurpation for the purchase of provisions and unnitions of war for the army that is enlisted and employed to make war upon the United States Government. If we ship bacou and powder to Lousville they will, to a large extent, he reshipped for the use of the Confederates.

These considerations caused the lette These considerations caused the letter of the Gavernor of Onio, which was made public here yesterday, and will be found in the Proceedings of the meeting held in the Council Chamber, to be received by the masses of the people with indignant disapprobation. It was, indeed, denounced as naworthy the position of the Governor and not compatible with the general welfare. We would not have the people of Louisville famish for want of our pork and flour, but that port must not become the grocery of the Confederates.

The Commercial says of the proceedings

The Commercial says of the proceedings while our neighbors were present :

Judge Storer offered a resolution adopting the Governor's letter as the seutiment of those present, which was agreed to without a dissenting voice. An adjournment was had before the affair became generally known, and the indignation of the people against the tame proceedings was very great, and it is believed that a public meeting on the subject will be called to-day. The universal opinion which we have heard expressed is, that by furnishing Keutneky with provisions for transhipment to the South, simply because not in open rebellion, will place her in a position to be a more effectual ally of that section than if engaged in open hostilities against the Government. Whether this opinion, which is certainly general, is correct or not, time will demonstrate. those present, which was agreed to ect or not, time will demo

The Destruction of Government Pro-

THE DESTRUCTION OF GOVERNMENT PROVERTY.

It is believed that the cost to the Government by the destruction of property in the navy yard could not have been much short of eight or ten millions. The cost of those innuense and magnificent ship honses and their contents boms a considerable item in the account, and so does that of the Pennsylvania. It brings tears into our eyes when we recognize the destruction of this noble ship, so long the ornament of our harbor, and the admiration of thous sands from all parts of the country who visited our waters. Then there was that splendid specimen of naval architecture, the new and beautiful frigate Merrinare, and four or five other noble vessels given to the flames and their valuable armament to the deep. U, it is enough to make any one weep to behold such wanton and wholesale destruction of valuable property.

SERENADE TO VICE PRUSIDENT STEPHENS

of America. The Dispatch has the following sketch of his speech:

The distinguished gentleman was introduced to the throng by Mayor Mayo, and received with hearty cheers. In response, Mr. Stephens returned his acknowledgments for the warmth of his personal greeting, and his most profound thanks for it as the representative of the Confederate States. He spoke of the rejoicing the secasion of Virginia had caused among her Southern sisters. Her people would feel justified if they had heard it as he had. He would not speak of the States that were pure, but of those that were in. North Carolina was out, and did not know how sho olina was out, and did not know how sh got out. The fires that were blazing her he had seen all along his track trem Mont gomery to Richmond. At Wilndington North Carolina, he had counted on on street twenty flogs of the Confederal States.

The news from Tennessee was equal by resolutions of her popular assemblies in Memphis and other chies. Kentucky would stool be out; her people were nov-leg. Missouri — who could doubt the stand she would take, when her Governor, he reply to Lincoln's insolent proclamation, had said—"You shall have no troops for the Inriherance of your illegal, unchristism, and diabedical scheme." Missouri will soon add another star to the Southern galaxy. Where Maryland is you all know. The first Southern blead had been shad on her soil, and Virginia would never stand idly by and see her chilzons shot down. The cause of Raltimore was the cause of the whole South.

He said the cause we were engaged in was that which uttarked people to the constitution of the late United States—it was the cause of civil, reignous and constitutional liberty. Many of us looked at that consituation as the nuclear of safty. In Georgia the people had been attached to the previous Union, but the Constitution which governed it was framedly Southern talent and understanding. Assoults had been made on it ever since it was establish.

Constitution had been made an engine of power to crush out likerty; that of the Confederate States to preserve it. The old Constitution was improved in our hands, and those living under it had, like the Phoenix, risen from the ashes. The revolution lately begun did not after a lone groperty but liberty. He alinded to Lincoin's call for 5,000 volunteers, and he could find no authority in the old Constitution for such a flagmant abuse of power. Ills second proclamation had stigmatized as plrates all who sailed in letters of marque; this was also in violation of the Constitution, which alone gave Congress that power. Constitution had been made an e

The Confederale States had but asserted their rights. They believed that their rulers derived their just powers from the consent of the governed. No one had a right to deny the existence of the sovereign right of secession. Our people did not want to meddle with the Northern States—only wanted the latter to let them

The Wheeling Argas says there is no truth in the report that Governor Letcher had ordered the science of the Custom House in that city. Some of the People of the Wheeling have organized a Home Guard to protect the tederal property there. fail to subserve the real interests of Kentucky and the South.

The revelations of a few days past tend greatly to strengthen the belief already existing to a considerable extent, that to longer hope for a Union of justice ani equality between the North and the South were an impossibility; or that a reconstruction of the Government upon the terms of its original parity and harmony, would be to build upon "the baseless fabric of a vision."

would be to build upon "the baseless fabric of a vision."

The spirit of the "irrepressible conflict" has awakened the shumbering energies of its Julse philosophy; and there can be no obb in the tide of its revolution, until its forces are expended.

Northern fanaticism, long struggling for the extinction of slavery, beginning to be supported. Northern fanatleism, long struggling for the extinction of slavery, having at length, through the agitation of that question, obtained possession of the Federal Government, through the instrumentality of list treasury, its army and its unvy, is unw was given a war against the South, the altimate purpose of which, I verily believe, is the total extinction of that institution in the States where it exists. I greatly fear that now the only hope of the South is to meet force with force. However horrible may be the consequences of such a fact, I greatly fear that now it is the only alternative. All hope of conciliation, of compromise having failed—the Administration having acted with utter duplicity toward the South having failed—the Administration having acted with utter duplicity toward the Sonth In its hypecritical pretensions to peace, how can we longer hope to maintain the Union, when there is neither Union nor equality under the rule of a Black Republican Government?

Born in Kentucky, and raised in Kentucky, her destiny is mine. To-day she stands cuveloped in the smoke of a flery fame raging on either side. Contending finne raging on either side. Contending forces have met above, and are now expending their wrath upon her head. Her people do not approve of either of the extremes by which she is being overwhel ued. The wisdom of her council would have tremes by which she is being overwhel ued, The wisdom of her connell would have produced far different results, had it prevailed; but failing in her high and noble and patriotle purposes to preserve the Union, she now must reap the storm, the whirldwind whereof she did not sow. In this unboly, unrighteous crusade of Abolitionism against slavery, are not the people of Kentucky with the South? If not, I greatly mistake their real sentiments, ther interests and destiny are theirs. Her on Johnson and the first light and several series and destiny are theirs. For the following important Information on the state of Cairo, and of matters transpiring there, we are Indebted to George Flack, Esq., conductor on the Memphis and Ohio Isuiroad. He tells us that 1,800 Federal troops arrived at Cairo last night, and that a still larger number are expected there to day.

A number of engineers went from Cairo to Columbus in order to survey it, with a view to the erection of Iortifications there. The ferryboat P. B. Cheeney is retained at Cairo by the troops, and communication letween Cairo and Calendhus is thus cut off. Passengers who yesterday went up by the train, had to reach Louisville by way of Clarksville.
